

Dear Commissioner Powell et al:

It is time for the US government to re-regulate the American airwaves. Sinclair Broadcast Group's flagrantly partisan abuse of the our airwaves is certainly not 'in the public interest'. To allow major broadcasters, such as Sinclair, to own multiple media outlets in single markets is bad policy. To allow broadcasters such as Sinclair to own over 60 television stations in America is simply wrong. Let's roll back the laws and regulations governing our nation's airwaves to those of the 1970's, a considerably more civilized and democratic time.

Sincerely,

Charle D. Alvare
